

TSI CONSULTING PARTNERS, INC.

Stacey A. Zawel
Senior Consultant

Stacey Zawel is an experienced leader and consultant with over 15 year of experience working with both for-profit and not-for-profit organizations. Her consulting expertise focuses on strategic effectiveness – helping organizations set the right goals and consistently achieving them. Her practice at TSI CONSULTING PARTNERS, INC. includes helping clients formulate their future direction and providing implementation support.

Prior to joining TSI, Stacey's background included technology and product development experience in three Fortune 500 companies. Stacey's work focused on new product development and establishing quality systems. She later applied her hands-on experience as the leader of the science and regulatory policy team for the largest consumer products trade association in Washington, DC. Her policy work included influencing decisions before Congress, the Food and Drug Administration, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and international regulatory venues.

Stacey's educational background includes a BS from the University of Wisconsin–Madison and a PhD from Rutgers University.
